About The School Tax

In authorizing an election for a tax increase in the amount of 50 cents per hundred dollars of assessed valuation, the Board of Education called attention to the serious financial problem which the district faces due to the continued cost of operation and the loss of revenue by the removal of property from the tax roles—most recently over a quarter million dollars by BARTD alone.

The 50 cent tax increase will be used for the purpose of maintaining the quality educational program the community has enjoyed for the past several years.

Albany schools' program has been unique and such special services offered is as follows: speech correction, remedial reading, elementary library, elementary summer school session, and modern instructional facilities at the high school.

The key to an effective education program has been the competence of the teaching staff. While the Albany salary schedule is good, it nonetheless is the lowest salary schedule of neighboring school districts. If the Albany School District is to continue to attract and hold competent teachers and other personnel, salaries must be competitive.

If Albany is to provide its boys and girls with a modern up-to-date education, its program, facilities and equipment must be on a par with neighboring districts.

The Albany Board of Education is continuing with every possible vigor the matter of seeking revenue for property in the district not on the tax role, but in the final analysis the district must look to its own resources if it is to maintain the program necessary for its children and youth.

The 50 cent tax increase on the ballot calls for an increase in the scheduled limit from $3.45 to $3.95 for a five-year period beginning July 1, 1966. It is estimated that on a home assessed at three thousand dollars this will cost 15 dollars per year, or one dollar and twenty-five cents ($1.25) per month.

Albany Candidates Give Views on Various Matters

All candidates for the forthcoming municipal election April 12 with the exception of Lawrence Saler, unopposed for City Attorney; Ralph M. Jensen, unopposed for Chief of Police, and Katharine Geering, unopposed for the Board of Education, appeared at the Jaycee Candidates Night at the Cornell school auditorium last Thursday night.

Unfortunately the audience was not as large as anticipated because of two other events: a tree-planting meeting at City Hall, attended by about 50 property owners, and the Elementary School Music Festival at Marin school, which attracted its traditional standing-room-only audience.

It was the consensus that nothing was either lost or gained by candidates, each of whom was represented by a loyal contingent in the audience. It did, however, give those who have not met the other candidates an opportunity to hear and see them.

Moderated by Jaycee William Johnson, the meeting was well-conducted until it came time for Superintendent of Schools Kenneth Forry to discuss the proposed school tax increase. Johnson excused the candidates on stage and half the audience followed them into the entryway, where they spoke so noisily it was difficult to hear what Forry was saying.

Councilman Richard Clark discussed the proposed charter amendments, urging passage of all three.

School Board
Board of Education Members Max D. Kelley, Robert L. Nehls and Charles A. Pinkham briefly discussed their terms on the board and unanimously urged

Rapid Transit Will Be Landscaped

A Rapid Transit representative last Monday told Albany Chamber of Commerce that the right-of-way through Albany will be attractively landscaped with a park for children at Solano Ave.

Bus routes will take the people of this city to and from stations in El Cerrito and Berkeley, said Stanton W. Theis, assistant public relations director for BARTD.

Theis said the construction of pillars in Albany was good because "You're getting your construction early." He noted that although 70 homes had to be removed for Rapid Transit, a one mile freeway through the city would have removed about three times as many homes.

In Toronto, he added, land value along the new rapid transit route had risen by 50 per cent.

The regular monthly luncheon was held at Serb's.

An Editorial

We Endorse Howell-Runyon

Today the Albany Times, for the first time since it was founded in 1935, is recommending two candidates for Albany City Council—Mayor Lewis Howell and Barry Runyon, Jr.

We believe the City Council for the past four years has been progressive, dedicated to the good of Albany and that meetings have been conducted with an acceptable amount of dignity and reason. Partisan politics and state and national affairs have consumed too much of the Council's time, but this is of no great consequence when balanced with the progress we have seen in our city.

Mayor Howell has been an outstanding civic servant in the years the Albany Times has been in existence. He kept a cool head during the stormy period prior to 1961. He knows the background of virtually every issue which could come before the City Council. In our estimation he has had only the welfare of Albany at heart and his votes have always been in the best interests of Albany. He has initiated many projects which have benefitted everyone in the city in some way. For example, at one time when he was Mayor, he formed a committee to sell bricks at $1 each to raise the first funds for what is now the beautiful Senior Citizen Center on Masonic Avenue.

Barry Runyon is an intelligent, level-headed young man who has served his apprenticeship by heading many important committees in Albany, successfully working with a wide variety of our citizens. These are the people who urged him to run because they believe he will make an outstanding councilman.

After a great deal of thought toward the welfare of Albany, the publisher of this newspaper has decided to break a 31-year precedent of non-involvement in elections. We hope our readers and advertisers will realize it was not an easy decision nor was it taken at hastily.

We respectfully urge you to vote next Tuesday, April 12, for Lewis M. Howell and Barry Runyon, Jr.

Council

Egg-Throwing, Vandalism Complaints Aired

Complaints of egg-throwing and other vandalism were heard from members of the audience at the Monday night meeting of Albany City Council.

Nick Reckas said a council candidate had placed three signs at his place of business. Sunday night the building had been plastered with eggs, Reckas charged.

A representative of a congressional candidate, whose headquarters are in Berkeley, listed many acts of harassment, which he said were committed by Albany boys who are carriers for a daily newspaper. The boys, he said, slipped a cherry bomb through the mail slot, grabbed bumper strips and "plastered them around," threw a bag of grease and water at the awning and called workers in the office unpleasant names.

"Mr. Call's house has been hit with eggs and Wolf's campaign signs have been smeared with eggs," the young man charged.

C of C Endorses Passage of General Plan

(Copy of letter sent to Albany City Council)

Honorable Members of the Council:

The Chamber of Commerce wishes to cooperate with your Council with respect to the adoption of the Master Plan for Albany. We cannot arrange a Directors' meeting prior to April 12, therefore:

In the public interest, the office of the Chamber of Commerce has taken a telephone poll of its officers and directors with respect to the action of your Council on adoption of the Plan with a bi-annual review of the bay-area portion of the Plan.

Junior Assistant Scoutmasters Kevin Keck and John Kister and Senior Patrol Leader Gerry Thauberger led the boys with layout plans and construction. Scoutmaster Eldon Wolf gives credit to the entire troop for the excellent teamwork displayed in winning these awards.

ment district will be formed soon. He urged members of the audience to "ask me later" about street lights in residential areas. He said Albany could receive federal and state aid for a shopping center near the new Civic Center. He said he favors reasonable commercial-recreational development of the tidelands and that it is important to get a plan started. He promised to initiate the sewer connection charge and appoint seven commissioners on a General Plan committee if elected, and urged a yes vote on the school tax.

"When I'm running, I belong to no hate groups," Howell said. "I'm backed by some of the best people in the community." He cited as future projects street lights on Solano and San Pablo and the beautification of the Rapid Transit right-of-way.

Joe Carlevaro said life in Albany is at stake. The initiation of the General Plan will bring added problems, such as sewers, recreational facilities, street deficiency and police and fire protection for a proposed 21,000 population. He said he is in favor of the General Plan, but voters must choose one who can implement it in the right direction. He said Albany's sewers are old and replacing them could be a great burden. When he was mayor, he said, he proposed a $150 per unit sewer service hookup charge in every apartment. If that had been done three years ago, he said, the city would have $18,000 today. He said he worked with the San Pablo Ave. Street Lighting committee and that an assess-things" for the past four or five years and felt he owed his candidacy to the good people who had worked with him. He said in his experience as an attorney, he sets up corporations and compared the City Council to the board of directors of a $1 million corporation employing 132 people. If elected, he promised, he would give up his other activities and concentrate on Albany's problems. He complimented the foresight and courage of Albany City Council, which took three and a half hours to pass the General Plan the previous Monday night. He said he does not believe Council should become involved in Viet Nam Day committee, or state and national issues. Councilmen, he said, are elected to handle the business of the city. We have representatives in other levels of government to handle the other matters, he said. Because Councilmen appoint department heads and members of all boards and commissions, Runnion urged the audience to select its Councilmen carefully and urged everyone to vote April 12.

Edon A. Wolf said four had spoken before him and urged the audience to consider the reason they were there. Everyone, he said, is concerned with the tax base, waterfront, schools, Albany Hill, UC Village and Rapid Transit. "We all like Albany" and are concerned for its future." He said he feels Albany is in danger of losing its community identity. In 19 years, Wolf said, he has seen dissension, charges and counter-charges, adding "we must compromise our differences and work for community maturity." He cited the need for improvements on Solano, sewers and lighting. He said he worries about the encroachment of the problems of adjacent communities on Albany. Wolf said he has been asked why a Scoutmaster would run for City Council. "If members of the City government would live by the Scout Law, we wouldn't have to worry about honesty in government," he said. Wolf said he stands for principles, does not worry if his friends support him or don't and pledged to work fairly and honestly as an independent candidate for good efficient city government.

Questions

During the question and answer portion, Herbert Rubin asked each candidate how he or she feels about ceasing to fill

Albany tidelands until plans are approved. Howell said Albany should continue with the dump but after the General Plan is adopted "we should sit down and discuss what is to be done." Runnion said City Attorney Salter reports no "escape clause" in the contract with the dump operators. He said Albany has reached its tidelands only within the past month, that the General Plan is a basis for a start, then funds should be budgeted to study the waterfront. Wolf said he recognizes the value of conservation, that he feels a 10-year contract for fill without an escape clause is either an oversight or betrayal of the people's trust. He favored stopping fill until "we can get this settled." Carlevaro called for a detailed study to determine how much fill is enough to do justice to the city and surrounding area and still comply with state regulations. Mrs. Lyon is in favor of "limited, planned fill."

In answer to a question as to favoring apartments on Masonic, Key Route Blvd., and Santa Fe, Runnion said all facts have to be considered any time any rezoning is proposed. Howell said he hopes through beautification, the people in single-family dwellings on Masonic will remain, but rather than have it run-down, apartments should be allowed. Wolf said he is opposed to a town of apartment houses, recognizing the influence of a family close to the ground, and believes people should make their wishes known.

When Eleanore Miller asked if the candidates would prefer former home owners to leave Albany rather than move into apartments, Carlevaro said he is not opposed to apartments, "But there are places where they can be built." Wolf said he thinks it should be reviewed carefully where apartments can be built. Runnion said he is for well-planned growth within the city.

A man from the audience asked if candidates thought Albany Hill should be covered with homes and apartments or be preserved for its view and the trees. Howell said the property is privately owned, asked how the city could finance a park. He said he'd like to have many more parks in Albany. Runnion said he loves Albany Hill, wishes Albany could afford to buy it for a park. Lyon agreed that it would be ideal to have a park if the city had unlimited funds. Carlevaro suggested getting a parcel on top of the hill with a lookout point overlooking the bay and Golden Gate Fields. "If the people desire, they can put a lookout point on Albany Hill," Wolf said he likes Albany Hill as residential but said it would be a good idea to find some spot in a good area for a park.

After all candidates had told a University Village resident that they were not considered second class citizens, Councilman Joel Parker, Jr., asked Carlevaro what density of population was provided for in the Zoning Ordinance which was passed when Carlevaro was mayor and pointee, H. F. Call, was chair of the Planning and Zoning Commission. Carlevaro said 27,000. "That's what I said," he corrected him, stating it was most impossible to have above the din from the neighbors where candidates and problems in the General Plan would be.

School Tax Musings

With cost of living rising, it's difficult to realize that our schools need income. Depending solely on property taxes, the schools do not participate in sales tax revenues and other benefits of an inflationary market. It's going to take an increase to simply operate at the same level. We did some soul-searching on this one, and came up with the only possible answer. The school tax is necessary. A dedicated School Board and Superintendent have proven to us beyond a doubt that there is no other alternative. The high quality of our schools and the fine students in them, make us realize that the future belongs to our youth. It's worth every sacrifice to this city to maintain these excellent schools. Who could resist the thrill of seeing the High School Band in its new uniforms, stepping out lively at the head of the parade to the new Civic Buildings? School spirit, civic pride, patriotism, call it what you will, it's part of Albany! The heck with the tax rate! We're voting "YES" on April 12.

School Tax Musings

With cost of living rising, it's difficult to realize that our schools need income. Depending solely on property taxes, the schools do not participate in sales tax revenues and other benefits of an inflationary market. It's going to take an increase to simply operate at the same level. We did some soul-searching on this one, and came up with the only possible answer. The school tax is necessary. A dedicated School Board and Superintendent have proven to us beyond a doubt that there is no other alternative. The high quality of our schools and the fine students in them, make us realize that the future belongs to our youth. It's worth every sacrifice to this city to maintain these excellent schools. Who could resist the thrill of seeing the High School Band in its new uniforms, stepping out lively at the head of the parade to the new Civic Buildings? School spirit, civic pride, patriotism, call it what you will, it's part of Albany! The heck with the tax rate! We're voting "YES" on April 12.

Three Charter Amendments On the Ballot

There is no known opposition to three proposed charter amendments which will be on the ballot for the municipal election April 12.

Charter Amendment No. 1 would authorize the City Council to transfer to the County of Alameda any or all tax assessing and tax collection functions of the city. This is a permissive amendment and carries with it the stipulation that a breakdown of the tax rate be included with or on the tax bill.

Charter Amendment No. 2 would exclude from the general fund of the City of Albany the city's cost of any pension plan for city employees.

Charter Amendment No. 3 would allow appointees of Albany Police Department to reside not more than 15 air miles from the intersection of San Pablo and Marin rather than the current seven road miles from the intersection of San Pablo and Solano.

caused the Great Seal of the City of Albany to be affixed this 28th day of March, A.D., One Thousand Nine Hundred and Sixty-six.

Mayor of the City of Albany

Proclamation

tributed to our own and to the nation's economic growth, security and freedom.

Now communities in all sections of the country are planning observances to emphasize the importance of each individual's role in building a sound economy — our American Way of Life. This is not merely a reminder that we should save a portion of our incomes for personal security; it is a call to all Americans to marshal their financial resources as a means of strengthening and preserving the Free World. Once again we are reminded that the individual's savings, wisely invested, provide the capital for American industry; that each and every one of us, with our savings accounts, our investments in homes, life insurance, local business enterprises, in stocks or in bonds, is participating broadly in and benefiting Albany's growth and prosperity, as well as that of California and our entire nation.

Accordingly, I proclaim April 25-May 1 as Invest-in-America

Week throughout Albany and urge all our citizens to re-emphasize the importance of personal savings and investment in various economic endeavors so that the citizens of Albany, California and the nation as a whole may continue to grow and prosper.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and

A "YES" VOTE FOR SCHOOL TAXES

Is A "YES" Vote for Our Children

REASONS WHY WE SUPPORT A TAX INCREASE AT NEXT TUESDAY'S ELECTION

To help keep classes small in all Albany schools.

To continue elementary summer session classes which helped over 400 children in 1965.

To purchase supplies and equipment for buildings now under construction.

- ★ To maintain special classes and services such as speech correction, elementary libraries, instrumental music and reading clinics.
- ★ To provide a salary schedule which insures the recruitment and retention of good professional teachers. Albany salaries are now the lowest in the East Bay.

WHY IS THIS 50 CENT TAX INCREASE NECESSARY

The present $3.45 school tax is not sufficient to provide enough funds to operate the school system at its present level.

The removal of over a quarter of a million dollars from the tax rolls by such public agencies as U.C. and BARTD has cri-pled the tax base which provides for more than half of the school district's budget.

- ★ The 50 cent tax increase, beginning July 1, 1966, and limited to five years, would cost the average homeowner $15 a year or $1.25 a month.

McDonald of McDonald's Hamburgers is From Albany

John R. McDonald, manager of the new McDonald's Hamburgers at 1198 San Pablo Ave., Berkeley, lives at 829 Madison in Albany with his wife and nine-year-old son, Tom, who attends Vista school.

No relation to the owners of the hamburger chain, McDonald, formerly of Rockford, Ill., has fulfilled a wish to become an East Bay resident made 25 years ago on his first visit to the Bay Area.

He has as his silent partner his brother, George, western states regional counselor to the Lutheran Church of America. The firm employs 20 young men from the Albany-Berkeley area.

The new location is the 17th to open in the San Francisco area within the past three years and is the 735th in the nationwide chain which grossed, over $100 million last year, specializing in 15 cent hamburgers and the French fries to go with them.

With sales approaching two billion hamburgers in less than 10 years, McDonald's phenomenal success is based on a formula which combines assemblyline techniques, rigid controls over quality and cleanliness and "no frills" self-service to hold costs to a minimum.

An important factor in the McDonald's formula is "exhibition cooking." Plate glass windows surround three sides of the building so that customers may watch every part of the food preparation process. Time motion studies have been used for most efficient location of equipment. Nothing is left to the whim of the

Australian Students Visit Here

Six exchange students and young accordionists from Australia, who will be studying six months in New York City, stopped en route in the East Bay four days.

They were guests at a party at Northbrae Community church. The reception was arranged by John Molinari of Oakland, who is associated with the accordion company whose Australian distributor is paying expenses for the six young people.

The visitors toured San Francisco, visited schools, and stayed in various homes while in the East Bay.

During the reception, Clair Newman, star accordionist, and other musicians showed a new type of accordion which makes it possible to play songs from regular sheet music.

Charles Glasspool of Music Theatre Studios on San Pablo and many of his students attended the reception.

Thanks For Writing . . .

(Held Over from Last Week)

Editor, The Times:

In reference to Mr. Berling's letter I must say that I feel greatly hurt as a business man in Albany and particularly as a paint store owner in this community. Two years ago we opened the Discount Paint Palace at 926 San Pablo Ave. with the idea in mind of selling paint in this area at highly competitive prices.

As far as qualifications for selling paint go, take a look at mine. For the past 21 years I have been in the paint and wallpaper business. Besides owning the Discount Paint Palace I am employed by the Crosby Paint Corporation in the capacity of vice president. In this connection I have access to an experienced chemist any time to solve any unusual paint problem. In the past 21 years of selling paint I have never known anyone to be an expert in all paint problems but I do consider myself to be as good as anyone in the field.

My wife is also employed here and I know she sells paint as good as most I've seen in this business. My clerk, while rather new at this business, has been trained to the best of our ability. Both of them are courteous at all times. Incidentally, we have all met many fine people from Albany and surrounding areas that it has been a pleasure to serve.

If he bought paint in Albany and paid more for it I'm sure he did not buy it here. Crosby Paint, our main line, which was started through the Bing Crosby Research Institute, is sold here at discounted prices always. Since Crosby Paint and one other company were the first to introduce acrylic paints in the Bay Area 10 years ago, we are proud to say we take a back seat to no one quality-wise. This unique store sells five different paints besides Crosby Paints and all five are sold for $3.99 a gallon and 99 cents a quart, your choice of product, color, or type of paint depending on color and quantity of paint outlet that can give you more for your money and it is right here in Albany.

Sincerely,

DICK BURCH, Owner
Discount Paint Palace
926 San Pablo

Editor, The Times:

As past president of the Albany Chamber of Commerce and president of the Albany Homeowners and Taxpayers Association, as well as an Albany businessman and homeowner for the past 24 years, I feel obligated to answer Mr. Clay Berling's letter, which appeared in the March 23rd edition of your paper, concerning buying in Albany.

First of all, it is unfortunate that Mr. Berling has experienced two instances of mistakes he feels he is justified in making. We, as business men, may make mistakes, then, as we are only human. We correct these mistakes by means of compensation to our customers when it is to our attention. However, that is not right to merchants on the basis of experience with only one. There are many paint and car dealers in Albany who should be judge and jury. Albany merchants should be judge and jury. I would like to point out that twenty-two per cent of the necessary to operate the

SENIOR CITIZENS

846 Masonic Ave.

Seniors who went on the bus trip to KGO studios in San Francisco to watch the taping of a TV show report a very enjoyable time, capped by a luncheon at Little Sweden restaurant.

The old saying, "If March comes in like a lion it will go out like a lamb," proved true this year. March 31 was truly a balmy day, one of the warmest on record. A large crowd turned out for the celebration of 13 birthdays. Delicious cake, ice cream and coffee were served.

The next social function will be the Easter luncheon for members only at 12 noon on April 7. Have you made your reservation?

Bill Feeny Night Is Set May 11

Join the alumni and his other many friends in giving Bill a big send-off at a testimonial dinner at the Hotel Claremont, the evening of May 11. Dinner at 7:30 in the Churchill Room, social hour 6:30 to 7:30 in the Horizon Room. ## Luxury Apartment Opens Soon On Albany Hill

Within the next few weeks, a four-unit luxury apartment will be ready for occupancy at 601 Jackson on Albany Hill.

John Rolf Hattam, who was architect for the buildings, which will offer rentals in the $170 to $200 range, said bands of glass more than 200 feet long in each unit will give occupants the priceless scenic panorama without western sun problems, heretofore available only to families in single family hillside homes.

A few homes and apartments have been built on the lower slopes of Albany Hill, but generally the greater portion of the tree-topped miniature mountain remains undeveloped. Previous plans such as leveling the landmark for bay fill or building a multi-million dollar conference room on top have been made, discussed and discarded.

The unusual site, Hattam said, offers seclusion with proximity to schools and public transportation. Electrical appliances are furnished throughout. Terraces and decks offer unique landscaping opportunities.

Each unit has two bedrooms, living room, separate dining area, kitchen with table space and pantry and an 18-foot long bathroom.

Rapid Reading

Two separate courses at the same level in rapid reading are scheduled for the spring quarter of the Albany Adult school, 603 Key Route Blvd. One will be held on Tuesday evening; the other, on Thursday, starting April 12 and 14. They will be held from 7-10 each evening with Mrs. Margaret Alter as the instructor. Beginners, regardless of residence, may register in either of the two classes.

The objective of this course is to increase reading speed, comprehension and skills. It is in no sense remedial.

Torrez, chairman, reported.
